THUNDER RUMBLES. Sky darkens. A light drizzle begins to fall. SIBYL WINSTON (F, 25, gothic beauty with white hair and blindfold), holds a black umbrella and approaches the wedding venue. Everyone turns to stare, but cannot see Sibyl's face.

BUTLER (M, 60s) cranes his head and walks towards her.

BUTLER

Who is that?

(off her appearance)

You lost, Halloween reject?

Security! Get this freak off the property. Now.

SIBYL

(calm, quietly commanding)

Bring me Alan Habsburg.

BUTLER

"Alan"? That's Mr. Habsburg! The richest man in Apex City. Today is his daughter's wedding. Now get the hell out of here before...

A gust of wind lifts a black umbrella, revealing Sibyl, her silver-white hair whipping around eyes veiled in dark gauze (VFX) . The butler recoils from her presence as she barks.

SIBYL

Tell him Sibyl Winston is here for him.

(beat)

Watch what happens.

BUTLER

(shaking)

Okay—

(backing away)

I'll tell him. Right now—

The butler turns in a panic and jogs toward the villa.

Sibyl lifts her head slightly. Her eyes are covered, yet she seems to see lightning streak across the dark sky.

STACY (V.O.)

It is time to reclaim my eyes.

Thunder cracks.

INT. HABSBERG MANSION - HALL - DAY

2

ALAN HABSBERG (M, 50) is holding a glass of champagne, chatting and laughing with several business ASSOCIATES.

ASSOCIATE

To Mr. Habsberg!

(raising his glass)

The Kochs bring the oil, you bring the money, and after tonight, you'll be untouchable.

ALAN

(a smug little laugh)

What can I say? Some men are just... destined.

BUTLER

(rush in)

Mr. Habsberg--there's a woman at the gate. Says her name's Sibyl Winston. Says she's here for you.

At these words, Alan drops his champagne glass. It smashes on the floor.

EXT. HABSBERG MANSION - ENTRANCE - DAY

Alan, flanked by the butler and several ATTENDANTS, hurries toward Sibyl, hand outstretched.

ALAN

(head bowed)

Ms. Winston. Forgive me -- I should've been there to receive you myself.

BUTLER
(head down, baffled) Sir... how can you bow to her? You own this whole city-

ALAN (not lifting his head, lethal)
One more word out of you - and you're finished here. Today.

Beside her, the butler nods quickly, bowing his head lower.

Sibyl slowly holds out her hand, covered in black silk gloves and dragon-etched steel gauntlets.

Alan kneels, trembling as he kisses the back of Sibyl's hand, stunning all onlookers.

MONTAGE SEQUENCE

SUPER: 100 YEARS AGO.

SIBYL (V.O.)
A hundred years ago, war engulfed the world. To end it, I tore twelve fragments from my own body-my eyes, my heart, my very essence-and sealed them into the Tarot Cards, entrusting them to my disciples.
(beat)
They swore to preserve peace. A century on, their descendants built empires upon my gifts.
(beat) But now... as the world stands on the brink of collapse once again..

- AI-Clad in ceremonial robes, she stands on a tall platform amid city ruins, hands lifted high as twelve Tarot cards materialize midair.

- AI-Twelve beams of light surge from Sibyl's frame, fuse with the twelve Tarot cards, and streak toward the four corners of the world.

- Stock footage-The scene cuts back to the present: war, market crashes, protests, and widespread chaos.

- Alan overlooks the city from his lavish office. Behind him looms the silhouette of the Wheel of Fortune Tarot card(VFX).

EXT. OUTSIDE THE HABSBURG MANSION - DAY

Sibyl pauses and gazes toward the sky.

SIBYL

Divine power was never meant to sit in mortal hands this long.

(beat)

It is time I took back what is mine.

INT. HABSBURG MANSION - EVELYN'S ROOM - DAY

In the dressing room, EVELYN (F,20) in her wedding gown,

LISA

Look at you, sweetheart. The most beautiful bride in the world.

EVELYN

(confident, gloating)

After today, Mom, we're not just "the money" anymore. Finance was the floor. Now we build an empire.
Every old-money name that ever looked down on us? Under my heel.

Just then, the butler rushes in.

BUTLER

(panicked)

Mrs. Habsburg—Some strange woman came asking for your husband by name. And he—(struggling to say it) he kissed her hand. I've never seen him treat anyone like that.

LISA

What!?

(rising, venomous)

That man hasn't touched me in years. And now he's kissing some other woman's hand? Who the hell is she?

EVELYN

Easy, Mom. No one is ruining my wedding. Just watch what I do to her.

7

INT. HABSBURG MANSION - LIVING ROOM - DAY

Sibyl sits straight in the seat of honor. Alan nervously pulls out a rectangular box carved with European wood patterns.

ALAN

(offering it with both hands)

Ms. Winston... what is rightfully yours.

Alan sets the box on the table before Sibyl. Sibyl does not reach for it at once.

SIBYL

Alan.. Once I reclaim the Wheel of Fortune card, I reclaim my eyes.

The All-seeing Eye ends on you.

Only an ordinary life. Are you really ready for it?

*

ALAN

Our ancestors left us with a single command: When the day came, return the card to its rightful owner, Sibyl Winston.

(beat)

For a century, we saw every rise and every fall before the world did. Everything we built...

Everything we became...We owe to your gift.

(beat)

Without it, we're dust. So The Habsburg family doesn't break its word.

SIBYL

A century has passed... yet the Habsburgs have kept their word.

(a thin smile)

Good.

Sibyl glances down at the rectangular box, then shifts her gaze to Alan.

SIBYL (CONT'D)

A vow honored deserves a reward.
That is my law.

As she speaks, a stack of ancient cards slips from Sibyl's sleeve and curves across the table. Her fingers glow faint gold(VFX) as she traces the arc of the tarot cards and speaks.

SIBYL (CONT'D)

So... What do you want to know?

ALAN

I...My daughter marries the Kingsley heir today. The oil family. And I want to know—

*

SIBYL

You wish to know what fate your daughter would have faced... without the Wheel of Fortune's gift.

ALAN

Yes.

SIBYL

Bring her to me.

ALAN

Of course. Right away.

Alan exits.

7A

INT. HABSBURG MANSION - LIVING ROOM - DAY - LATER

7A

ANGRY VOICES RAISED. Lisa bursts into the room.

LISA (O.S.)

Where is she?! Where's the shameless bitch trying to get her claws into my husband?!

- Episode 3 -

Lisa and Evelyn hurry into the living room together, shocked by Sibyl's figure and her covered eyes.

LISA (CONT'D)

You're Sibyl Winston? The hell are you wearing...

EVELYN

(under her breath)

Mom. Dad's into this? She looks like she just clawed her way out of a grave.

Sibyl lifts her head at the noise, as if she sees clearly through her blindfold.

SIBYL

You're Alan's daughter.

Evelyn dismisses the question with a scoff.

EVELYN

Today, two dynasties become one.
Biggest day of my life. And my father vanishes, leaves a room full of VIPs waiting - for you? Some blind little stray in a costume?

Sibyl stands motionless with a blank face. Evelyn signals a MAID to bring boiled cup of coffee to Sibyl, a smug, vicious smirk tugging at Evelyn's lips.

EVELYN (CONT'D)

Here you go, Ms. Winston. Made it special. Just for you.

EVELYN (V.O.)

Boiling hot. I'd love to see you drink that, you blind bitch.

Sibyl's expression does not shift. She grips the hot cup through her steel-lined glove and drinks steadily. Evelyn and Lisa stare frozen in shock.

LISA

What the hell?

EVELYN

I swear! That was boiling hot!
(a cold scoff)
Are you as numb as you are blind?
How the hell did you drink that?

SIBYL

(a cold smile))

Stale beans. Sloppy pour.

(signs)

The Habsburg taste really isn't what it used to be.

EVELYN

Shut your mouth, blind bitch! You don't get to lecture me!

LISA

Exactly! My daughter marries into the Kochs tonight. We become the most powerful family in this country. And you?

(scoff)

A panhandler who wandered in off the street.

(snapping at two henchmen)

You two. Throw her out of my house.

Two HENCHMEN moves in. Sibyl doesn't flinch. Thunder booms outside. The room trembles, the coffee cup rattles off the tables and shatter across the floor. Lights flicker violently. Lisa and Evelyn huddle together in terror while SERVANTS scramble and chaos erupts.

ALAN (O.S.)

Don't touch her... unless you have a death wish.

- Episode 4 -

Alan bursts into the hall with his men, and the room instantly falls silent.

ALAN (CONT'D)

Evelyn. Lisa. Mind your manners! This family owes her everything. You will never disrespect her again.

Alan turns to Sibyl, obsequious and servile.

(head bowed)

Ms. Winston, please forgive them. They don't understand who they're speaking to.

EVELYN

Dad. Have you lost your mind?

ALAN

Enough! Both of you - get over here and apologize. Now.

Lisa jabs a finger at Alan and shouts furiously.

LISA

Alan, who is this lunatic to you?
The press is right outside. If the Kochs get wind of this, our name will be ruined.

ALAN

(faltering)
She is... She is more than anything you could imagine.

(demanding) Dad, why are you suddenly so - weak?! You're just letting this white-haired freak ruin my wedding?! Who the hell IS she?!

Alan slaps Evelyn across the face.

ALAN

Don't you say another word! She's-(hesitates, on a dime)
...Ms. Winston. Please, forgive my family. Please... Tell me what awaits my daughter.

LISA

(stunned)
What... awaits her?

Before Lisa can finish- Sibyl blurs forward, materializing instantly before Evelyn(VFX). She taps Evelyn's forehead, a burst of golden light erupting from her fingertip and engulfing Evelyn completely (VFX).

SIBYL

I'm afraid the Kochs won't be getting their bride today.

(shocked) Wh-What did you say?

SIBYL

(to Evelyn)
Today is the day you die.

CUT TO: On the table, an open Tarot spread, the Death card fully visible.

- Episode 5 -

Sibyl pulls the tarot cards back into her palm with magic (VFX) as Evelyn collapses to the floor. Lisa and Alan stare on in horror.

LISA (disbelieving, to herself)
No. No, no, no—
(wheeling on Stacy) You're a fraud! A cheap witch! How dare you put a curse on my daughter?!

Lisa steps forward to confront Sibyl, yet Alan holds her back.

ALAN (shoving Lisa back, furious)
Lisa! Calm down and let me handle this—
(to Stacy) Ms. Winston. Please. Tell me how to stop this from happening?

8

EXT. HABSBURG MANSION - ENTRANCE - DAY

8

A luxury vehicle pulls up at the villa gate. An aide opens the car door.

[Character Grand Entrance] JACK BENNETT (M, 25, black suit, muscular build) steps out of the car, leading a group of henchmen, strides into the Habsburg villa with confident, commanding bearing as guests murmur to one another.

FEMALE GUEST A
That's Jack Bennett. Former SEAL commander. Decorated war hero. What is he doing here?

FEMALE GUEST B
Keep your voice down. The Kochs flew him in to lead the bride's security escort.

Jack casts a cold glance toward them. Female Guest A shoots him a flirtatious look.

FEMALE GUEST A
He's so hot.

INT. HABSBURG MANSION - LIVING ROOM - DAY

In the living room, Alan still pleads desperately.

ALAN

Ms. Winston. Please...there has to be a way.

SIBYL

(coolly)

Call off the wedding.

Lisa comforts Evelyn, who lies on the floor and regains consciousness. Alan freezes, staring at Sibyl.

EVELYN

(sobbing)

What?

SIBYL

Otherwise all that awaits you... is your grave. Fate has no mercy for the stubborn.

Jack strides into the living room.

JACK

(firmly, to Sibyl)

Ma'am. Nice fortune-teller act. But nothing's happening to Miss Habsburg. Not on my watch.

Alan, Lisa and Evelyn in the hall stare at Jack. Jack shoots Sibyl a meaningful glance.

- Episode 6 -

Jack steps forward and pulls Evelyn to her feet off the floor; his cold gaze sweeps the whole hall.

JACK (CONT'D)

Mr. Habsburg. The Kochs brought me in for a reason. I'll get Miss Habsburg to that altar.

ALAN

Jack, that was the Death card! If Evelyn marries Ron Kingsley, she dies!

★

Lisa steps forward to interrupt.

LISA

Alan, stop! You call off this wedding, you make enemies of the Kochs. They control this country's oil. Don't throw everything away for some blind witch!

EVELYN

Dad, Jack's here. What is there to worry about? And... I love Ron. I am not backing out now.

(cold stare at Sibyl)
I'm heading out now!

Evelyn runs out.

ALAN

(frantic) Evelyn— Evelyn!

JACK

(cold, certain)
Mr. Habsburg...you doubt I can keep her safe?

Jack assumes a dominant power stance. Just as Alan is about to speak, Sibyl, who has stayed silent, suddenly speaks up.

SIBYL

Jack Bennett. Former Navy SEAL commander. A hero to many. Do you really believe honor is enough to shield you from fate?

Jack freezes, whips around, and stares at the blindfolded Sibyl.

JACK

(eyes sharp as a blade)
You ran a background check on me?

SIBYL

Background check? No. I just saw it.

JACK

(a cold scoff)
Alright, blind seer. Then you already know — no threat has ever made it past me.

SIBYL

Bullets are heavy, Commander.
So is body armor. But neither can weigh down Death's wings.

JACK

(a contemptuous grunt)
I don't believe in prophecies.
If Death wants her... it can come through me.

SIBYL

(lightly) Very well. The wheel of fate is already turning. When the prophecy comes to pass... I'll reclaim what belongs to me..

The camera locks onto the classic European carved wooden rectangular box resting on the table.

10

INT. HABSBURG MANSION — OUTSIDE EVELYN'S ROOM — DAY

Evelyn steps out of her room after freshening up and runs into Alan.

ALAN

(anxious) Evelyn...

EVELYN

(gently) Don't worry, Dad. I'll secure my place in the Kingsley family — and I'll make the Habsburg name even greater. I promise.

*

Moved deeply, Alan trembles as he holds Evelyn's shoulders.

ALAN

Good. That's my girl.

11

EXT. HABSBURG MANSION — ENTRANCE — DAY

Several luxury cars sit parked at the mansion entrance. Jack, crisp-suited with an earpiece, coordinates his SECURITY PERSONNEL on security protocols.

JACK

Listen up. Stay sharp. Any suspicious individual gets stopped immediately. Miss Habsburg gets to that altar safely. No exceptions.

SECURITY PERSONNEL

(in unison)

Copy that, Sir!

The men quickly take their positions by their cars. (AI)

*

SIBYL (O.S.)

It won't matter. The prophecy doesn't miss.

Sibyl walks over to Jack. Jack holds eye contact with blindfolded Sibyl and speaks in a provocative tone.

JACK

Alright, prophet. You predicted her death. Then be specific. Who? When? How?

Silence. Neither looks away.

JACK (CONT'D)

Give me a name. A time. Something I can stop. Maybe I'll start believing you.

SIBYL

(Calm)

Everything in this world whispers its secrets to me. But every truth comes with a price. Are you willing to pay it?

Jack gives a faint, amused smile and shakes his head.

JACK

Heh. So this is about money after all.

Stacy remains silent.

Evelyn's wedding car creeps into view in the distance. At the sight of it, Jack heads for his vehicle.

JACK (CONT'D)

Ms. Winston. It's a shame you won't get to witness it. Miss Habsburg will make it to her wedding... safe and happy.

SIBYL

Then give me a ride.

Jack turns back to Sibyl in disbelief. Sibyl holds out her hand, sheathed in dragon steel armor.

SIBYL (CONT'D)

Will you?

The faint smile fades from his face.

JACK

As you wish.

Jack opens the door and takes Sibyl's hand to help her in.

SIBYL

A single bullet is no threat to me.

Jack studies Sibyl, then glances at Evelyn's wedding car far away. It is unharmed.

(To his men)

Run a sweep. And I want whoever's behind this. Find me a name.

SECURITY PERSONNEL

Yes, sir!

16A INT./EXT CAR NO. 4 - DAY

SIBYL

(lightly)

Your aim is good, Commander. But...

18 EXT. WEDDING VENUE - DAY/NIGHT

The motorcade stops at the church entrance. Everyone steps out of the cars slowly.

The groom, RON BRACKEN (25, MALE, tuxedo and formal attire), waits at the entrance the whole time, wearing a blissful smile.

RON

Evelyn, baby, I've been waiting my whole life for this.

Ron opens Evelyn's car door.

RON (CONT'D)

Evelyn?

Ron leans in and reaches to Evelyn.

Close Up: Ron's expression, from smile to sheer terror.

Ron stumbles backward and collapses onto the ground.

RON (CONT'D)
Her...head! Her head!

Something wrapped in white veil rolls straight into his lap. Ron screams and scrambles backward, clawing at it, trying to throw it off.

RON (CONT'D)
No. No.

Hearing the screams, Jack sprints toward the wedding car.

Finally, Ron tears it free. He stares at his hands, slick with thick, dark blood.

RON (CONT'D)
Ahhhhhh!

The veiled object rolls over. A gust of wind lifts the veil—Evelyn's severed head.

Blood streams from Evelyn's eyes, nose, and mouth. The jagged wound at her neck still oozes dark blood.

- Episode 9 -

Jack freezes in shock. Lisa and Alan hurry over to check. She lets out a piercing, grief-stricken cry the second she sees her daughter's head on the floor.

LISA (shattering) No— Evelyn! My baby! This can't be real. who did this?! WHO KILLED HER?!

Alan holds Lisa tight, staring ahead and trembling with terror.

ALAN (trembling)
The prophecy... it was real...

Sibyl stands far off with her black umbrella, silently watching everything unfold.

SIBYL

The prophecy's come to pass. May I reclaim my eyes?

Lisa pulls away from Alan and shouts furiously at Sibyl.

LISA

(enraged)

You black-hearted witch! It was you! You cursed my daughter for those damn eyes! You killed her!

Lisa charges toward Sibyl, with Alan struggling desperately to restrain her.

(screaming)

I'll kill you!

ALAN

Lisa! Calm down!

LISA

Calm down? She killed our daughter, and you're telling me to calm down?!

JACK

Impossible. She never left my car.
There's no way she did it.

LISA

She's a witch! She used black magic!

(to Stacy)

I'll fucking kill you!

Sibyl stands apart, saying nothing.

JACK

Everybody shut it!

Jack steps forward, taking command.

JACK (CONT'D)

You—lock down the scene. Everyone else, inside. Now.

SECURITY PERSONNEL

Yes, sir!

Jack frowns at Sibyl as she turns away and heads inside, her black umbrella in hand..

20 INT. WEDDING VENUE - LOUNGE - NIGHT

20

The atmosphere was stifling. Sibyl sits on the couch. FOUR SPECIAL FORCES BODYGUARDS form a semicircle around her, all soaked in sweat, their gun-toting hands trembling faintly.

Sibyl slowly lifts her hand and brushes her hair.

BODYGUARD A (shouting in panic)
Don't move!

A chorus of clicks rings out as every rifle locks onto Sibyl's head. The bodyguards swallow thickly, drenched in sweat, the tension at a breaking point.

Sibyl never breaks her rhythm. She finishes the gesture with quiet elegance. The bodyguards gradually lower their guns.

Jack moves in front of Sibyl.

JACK
(to bodyguards) Step out. There are things I need to ask her alone.

The bodyguards exit.

JACK (CONT'D)
(anger held on a leash) Nobody in here but us now. So tell me. How did you sever Evelyn Habsburg's neck right under everyone's noses?

*

SIBYL
I read fate. I don't make it.

JACK
You don't make it?
(closing in, voice low) Maybe you didn't kill her. But you knew it was coming. That makes you part of it.

SIBYL
(smiles) "Part of it?" Commander... we're all part of it.

Neither of them backs down.

SIBYL (CONT'D)

I'm an oracle, Commander. Every fate. Every cause. Every consequence. Past, present, future—I see it all.

JACK

(furious)

Enough! Quit testing my patience with this fortune-cookie bullshit!

Jack draws a Swiss Army knife and presses its blade to Sibyl's throat.

JACK (CONT'D)

If you can read fate... Then read this...Will my knife slit your throat...in the next second?

SIBYL

(Calm)

Those who read fate...can never read their own. That's the price of the gift.

JACK

(threatening)

Pity. Because I only believe what I can see. And what I see is a suspect who's very good at getting inside people's heads.

SIBYL

Then let me take that thought out of your head.

Sibyl suddenly shoves her neck forward against Jack's blade, slicing her own throat open (VFX).

VFX: Her flesh splits apart, yet only a faint dark purple luminescence seeps from the gash—no blood drips out at all.

JACK

Stop!

Jack jerks his hand off the knife handle in panic, leaving the blade resting against Sibyl's throat(VFX).

SIBYL

Remember this cut, Commander. You just planted something between us.
(MORE)

SIBYL (CONT'D)

(beat)

Cause and effect.

JACK

(staggering back three steps, stunned)

You're insane. This isn't possible!

Sibyl rises to her feet, the knife still embedded in her neck (VFX).

VFX: She lifts her armored hand etched with dragon motifs, pinches the blade between two fingers and draws it free from her throat. The gash on her neck heals instantly without a single scar remaining.

SIBYL

I won't die, but that doesn't mean
I can't feel pain.

VFX: Sibyl grips the knife tip with her dragon-patterned steel gauntlet. Frost races across the steel. CRACK. The blade crystallizes—then shatters into glittering fragments at her feet.

SIBYL (CONT'D)

Believe me now?

Jack stares at his empty hand. For the first time, he's at a loss. A BODYGUARD rushes in.

BODYGUARD A

Sir! Our only surviving attacker is dead. He bit down on a cyanide capsule hidden in his molar.

JACK

Damn it. That was our last lead!

BODYGUARD A

Sorry, sir.

SIBYL

If you want the truth... stop chasing shadows.

(slow, with weight)

I'll have the bride tell you herself.

Jack gasps in horror.

JACK (disbelieving)
You can make a dead woman talk...?

SIBYL
(a faint smile)
I can. But I have one condition.

JACK
What condition?

SIBYL
Your absolute trust. From this moment on... Whenever I speak, you believe. Without question.
(teasing, alluring) Think you can do that?

Jack snaps his gaze sharply toward her, a mix of doubt and alarm.

SIBYL (CONT'D)
One simple act of trust... for the truth you seek. I rarely make deals this generous.

Jack studies Sibyl for a long beat.

JACK
...Deal. For the truth.

21

INT. WEDDING VENUE - MAIN HALL - NIGHT

21

Evelyn's body lies on a stone slab in the center of the room. White candles surround her. Jack lights the last candle and looks to Sibyl.

JACK
I did what you asked . What's next?

SIBYL
Bring me the groom. And her parents.
(beat) All of you — stand before her. The bride will face her killer herself.

JACK (stunned) You're saying... the killer's one of us?

Sibyl nods coldly.

- Episode 12 -

22

INT. WEDDING VENUE - MAIN HALL - LATER

22

Alan, Lisa and Ron stumble in. Sibyl stands at the front altar, with Evelyn's body laid out a short distance before her.

ALAN

Evelyn. Baby. Look at Daddy...

Lisa sees the candles encircling Evelyn and Sibyl's impassive face, and flares with rage.

LISA

What the hell is this? What are you doing to my daughter, you murderous bitch?!

The others remain silent. Alan holds Lisa back.

LISA (CONT'D)

Jack! She killed our baby, and now you're letting her perform some sick séance over her body?! Get that bitch away from her!

JACK

Quiet!

Ron walks over and sinks to his knees, grief-stricken, beside Evelyn's body.

RON

(crying)

I failed you, Evelyn... I was supposed to protect you. I'm sorry...

Sibyl slowly "glances" down at the group, her gaze settling finally on Evelyn's body.

SIBYL

Everyone's here. We may begin.

Sibyl stands over Evelyn's body, draws the Judgment Tarot card and flings it upward. The card hangs suspended, shrouded in a dim dark aura (VFX). She weaves a magic seal, murmuring incantations as she casts the spell.

SIBYL (CONT'D)

(incantation)

Broken neck and frozen breath, the debt is called, the blood is known.
Speak the name that carved your end! Rise, and tear the mask of friend!

VFX: Golden effects appear around Sibyl's hands.

The head seamlessly rejoins the body. Only a faint ring of blood marks the wound.(VFX)

Evelyn jerks rigidly upright. Empty eyes stare forward. Lisa claps a hand over her mouth, stunned. The crowd all gasps.

LISA

Aaah! Evelyn...? She's alive?!

SIBYL

She is. But not as she was.

- Episode 13 -

Ron staggers backward, terrified, as Evelyn fixes him with a cold stare.

RON

No, it can't be...

ALAN

(trembling)

That's- Evelyn...

Jack stares in disbelief, fists tightening instinctively.
Sibyl stays utterly calm.

SIBYL

(to Jack)

You lit the candles, Commander.
She'll answer you. Now ask her.

Jack stifles a shudder, left hand closing around the hidden gun grip at his waist as he advances step by step.

JACK

Evelyn. If you can hear me-Tell me.
Is your killer here?

Evelyn's rigid neck clicks softly, then she nods slowly, resolute. The group freezes. Eyes dart from face to face.

(grave, careful)
Then show me. Who.

At Jack's command, Evelyn's rigid frame shudders, joints jerking awkwardly as she moves. She shuffles unsteadily, glancing sideways at trembling Ron, then the stunned Lisa. Finally...She stops before Alan.

Her eyes suddenly fly wide, thick dark-red tears streaking her cheeks. She lifts a hand and points straight at her father, Alan!

Thunderclap booms. Alan trembles, mouth agape in terror.

EVELYN
(stiff, broken)
Daddy... why...

Evelyn rigidly lunges at Alan, who shrinks back screaming.

ALAN
Stay away from me— don't touch me—
DON'T—

Alan shoves her hard, sending Evelyn crashing back onto the slab. Evelyn falls down.

JACK
(it clicks)
I get it. No one got near the bridal car after it left the estate. But if Evelyn was already dead before they ever departed...

LISA
(turning on Alan, dawning)
You... you walked her to the car.
You were the last one alone with her.

(Continue from Sc#10)

Alan straightens Evelyn's veil, his hand gliding down to her neck. She offers a confused little smile.

A BODYGUARD silently places a dagger into Alan's waiting hand behind Evelyn's back. Alan's eyes turn cold in an instant.

Dagger cuts into Evelyn's neck. Evelyn's eyes widen in horror. Her hand instinctively rises to her throat.

EVELYN

Da..Dad..

Her POV- Alan won't meet her eyes.

ON the wall - Alan's shadow twists the bland. The head in his hand but body collapse (AI + VFX)

The dagger slips from Alan's hand. Alan's two BODYGUARDS stand motionless, as if they saw nothing.

24

JACK

Which means...The only possible killer is you, Alan Habsburg.

- Episode 14 -

ALAN

(to Evelyn, a wrong laugh forcing through)
No. No. Easy, Evelyn. It's Daddy.

SIBYL

(from on high, passing sentence) Alan Habsburg. Confess.

LISA

(rounds on Sibyl)
You sick witch! You used black magic to puppet my daughter! You're trying to frame my husband to cover up the fact that you killed her!

ALAN

Ms. Winston...You've wronged me.
Evelyn was my only child.
(holding out his hands)
You really think these hands could snap my own daughter's neck?

Blindfolded, Sibyl turns her head toward Alan.

SIBYL

What if she was never your daughter?

LISA flies into a furious rage.

LISA

What did you just say? Are you accusing me of cheating on my husband?! I'll rip your fucking jaw off, you fucking bitch!

Lisa lunges at Sibyl to strike her, but Jack holds her back.

JACK

Stop! Let her finish.

SIBYL

Lisa Habsburg. Evelyn and Ron were born on the same day. Same year. At same hospital. Didn't you ever wonder why?

LISA

...Evelyn always called it destiny... Said they were made for each other--

Lisa suddenly gasps, realization dawning, eyeing Alan suspiciously.

Alan stares back wide-eyed, shaking his head to deny it.

LISA (CONT'D)

...No. No, you're not saying--

SIBYL

You came to it on your own.

SIBYL (CONT'D)

This goes back twenty years...

As Sibyl speaks, the scene flashes back twenty years.

FLASHBACK:

A YOUNG ALAN (20s, M) kneels in the dark room, clutching a card that glows blue. His eyes are bloodshot from overwhelming visions.

YOUNG ALAN

I saw it! Bankruptcy. Every one of us behind bars. I have to find another way. Whatever it costs.

25A

INT. WEDDING VENUE - MAIN HALL - NIGHT

25A

SIBYL

To preserve the Habsburg legacy... you set your sights on the Kingsley family—the oil dynasty that powered this nation.

(beat)

Two pregnant wives. Same due date.
Yours, and theirs.

25B

AI MONTAGE (AS SIBYL'S VOICE OVER)

25B

- Alan slid a black card toward a doctor, who nervously accepted it.

SIBYL (O.S.)

You bribed everyone who stood between you and your plan.... You had the doctor lie about the babies' genders.

- On the night of the delivery, red emergency lights flash.
While everyone is thrown into chaos by the deliberately orchestrated "power outage,"

- Doctors and nurses cross paths in the dimly lit intensive care unit.

SIBYL (O.S.) (CONT'D)

Then, on the day they were born, you staged a blackout so your child could be switched with the Kingsleys' baby.

Close Up: Two small hands, each wearing an identification bracelet, exchange something in the shadows.

INT. WEDDING VENUE - MAIN HALL - NIGHT

26

RON

I'm a Habsburg? No, that's insane.
I'm the Kingsley heir to the Kingsley family!

*

*

LISA
(in disbelief)
No. This can't be... Alan, tell me you didn't— That was our son...

ALAN
This is insane! where's your proof?
(pointing at sibyl)
That witch has all of you under her spell!

Sibyl remains completely unfazed.

- Episode 16 -

JACK Here's how it played. you knew that once the marriage went through, the Kingsleys would eventually uncover.
So you hired killers to make it look like a roadside attack on the bride.
(beat) But Ms. Winston's prediction put me on alert. Afraid your hitmen wouldn't get the job done, you killed Miss Habsburg yourself before she ever got into that car.
(almost a smile)
But unlike professional killers...
Your bodyguards talk.

*

Alan wrings his trembling hands. Before he can speak, Bodyguard A rushes into the church.

BODYGUARD A
Sir. Alan Habsburg's bodyguards have confessed. Alan ordered Evelyn's murder.
(takes out a recorder)
It's all here. Their statement.

Lisa stands frozen, staring at Alan in shock. Lisa collapses on the floor, pointing at Alan

LISA
Alan Habsburg... You monster!

ALAN (reeling)
Twenty years. I planned every move.
I saw it all coming... Haha....
(MORE)

ALAN (CONT'D)

I still couldn't outrun my own ending.

LISA

(grief and fury together)

Why? Just- why, Alan?!

ALAN

(to Sibyl)

Your card gave me the All-Seeing Eye, Ms. Winston. It led my family to the top. But it also showed me the fall.

(rising)

So before you came to take it back, I had to give my son a future safe from the wreckage.

JACK

All that foresight. But you overlooked one thing-Evelyn and your own son, Ron, fell in love.

ALAN

Somehow... fate threw them into each other's arms.

(the helpless fury)

I tried to stop it. But every time I pushed them apart, they came back twice as hard.

LISA

(A sudden realization)

...She looked just like Mrs.

Kingsley.

How did I never question it?

*

ALAN

I saw what came next. Once they got married, the Kochs would've recognized themselves in Evelyn. I had no choice.

(falls to his knees before Stacy)

Ms. Winston. I'm begging you. Help me one last time.

- Episode 17 -

Alan begs Sibyl, but she stares blankly. He then turns to Ron.

ALAN (CONT'D)
(wheeling to Ron)
Son, everything I did was for you!

RON
(shoving Alan off) How can I ever live with what you've done?!

LISA
Twenty years. I braided her hair. I watched her take her first steps. I heard her call me "Mama" for the first time —
(the word breaking her) —and to you, she was just a piece to move around?

ALAN
(snapping into madness)
Do you have any idea what I carried? Any of you?! For twenty years I bore all of it. Alone! I sacrificed more for this family than any of you ever will!

LISA
You monster! You killed my daughter. And destroyed our lives!

Lisa lunges at Alan and hits him. He makes no attempt to resist.

SIBYL
You tried to escape the future.
Never realizing... your fear of the future had become the trap.

Evelyn suddenly stiffens and rises, then suddenly lunges straight for Ron.

(stiff)
You... were... mine...

RON (scrambling away)
Stay back! Stay AWAY from me!

Jack steps forward, pointing a gun at Evelyn.

JACK Stop!

Sibyl remains perfectly calm. Evelyn surges violently toward Ron.

Jack fires a shot that slams into her shoulder, yet she feels no pain. Her sole target is Ron—the man she once loved utterly.

RON

Evelyn! It's me! it's Ron!

EVELYN

You... belong... to me...

Evelyn lunges, about to sink her teeth into him.

RON

Aaaaaah!

- Episode 18 -

At this moment, Alan shoves himself between Evelyn and Ron. She sinks her teeth deep into Alan's neck, tearing out a chunk of flesh; blood gushes nonstop.

Jack and Bodyguard A immediately rush in, dragging her off him. She thrashes violently.

ALAN clutches his torn, bleeding neck. His strength drains away.

ALAN

He's the last Habsburg blood left.
I had to... I had to protect him...

RON

(tears streaming, shaking his head)
No! How did it come to this?!

SIBYL

Her hatred has nowhere to rest.
That's why.

ALAN

(dropping to his knees)
Ms. Winston, I confess. I defied fate...and I murdered Evelyn.
(Looking at Lisa and Ron)
But my wife, my son, spare them.
They're innocent. I beg you...

Sibyl strides slowly through the bloody chaos, stopping over Alan and staring down at his body.

SIBYL
You have my word.

ALAN (tears falling, a desolate smile) Ms. Winston... thank you. You gave us a hundred years of glory we never deserved.

A strange calm settles over Alan.

ALAN (CONT'D)
Blood debts must be paid in blood.

Alan snatches the gun from Bodyguard A's waist, pressing the barrel to his temple without a moment's hesitation.

LISA Alan! No!

RON Stop!

JACK (lunging) Drop it!

Sibyl watches the scene unfold completely calm.

Alan casts one final look at Evelyn, his lips twitching as he whispers softly.

ALAN
I'm sorry...

BANG! Alan pulls the trigger. His body slumps backward onto the floor.

VFX: A thin, unsettling stream of golden light drifts silently upward from Alan's wounds.

At that exact moment, the feral Evelyn goes limp. The rage animating her vanishes. She collapses, lifeless once more.

SIBYL
The debt is paid.

Lisa throws herself over Alan's body, weeping.

LISA
Alan! Alan, no! Come back! Please!

The golden "Wheel of Fortune" tarot card floats slowly out from Alan's suit jacket, drifting like a firefly toward Sibyl before darting straight into her eyes.(VFX)

[KEY SHOT] The black blindfold wrapped around her face slips loose and floats away on the light wind.

Sibyl slowly opens her eyes. CLOSE UP: Sibyl's eyes.

- Episode 19 -

Sibyl's gaze sweeps across the room, heavy and unyielding, compelling everyone to avert their eyes—until it locks onto Jack. He freezes instantly.

Sibyl slowly lifts her hand, her fingertips hovering before her eyes.

SIBYL

I gave the Habsburgs the power to see the future so they could lead mankind out of the dark. But the fear of the future took hold of them...and drove them to challenge fate—only to fulfill it.

(beat)

That's why I reclaim every card. Power like that in mortal hands... always finds an appetite to feed.

Jack seems to grasp the truth, emotion softening in his eyes.

SIBYL (CONT'D)

The Wheel of Fortune is back where it belongs.

(a look at Jack)

Time for the next one.

Sibyl heads out. Jack hesitates briefly, then falls into step right behind her.

Suddenly, bodyguard A rushes in.

BODYGUARD A

Sir, loads of powerful clans out front—every major family in the whole nation's here. They're begging to see Ms. Winston!

28

INT. WEDDING VENUE - MAIN HALL - CONTINUOUS

28

Sibyl marches forward, unflinching.

SIBYL

They really think money can buy a god? Tell them, I don't keep slaves.

Jack hurries a few quick paces to catch up.

JACK

You turned them down...Just like that? Those families could've handed you the world.

(a small smile)

You know nothing about me, Commander. The next card is already calling. Come.

JACK

Where to?

SIBYL

(stopping)

Your place.

JACK

(thrown)

What?

SIBYL

My heart... is at your place.

Jack stunned.

- Episode 21 -

JACK
(a short, thrown laugh) Okay--hold on. Your heart's at my place? Seriously?

SIBYL
A hundred years ago, I sealed my heart inside the Sun card and entrusted it to your family.

JACK
My family? I thought we were nothing more than a family of doctors.

Sibyl casts a glance at Jack yet says nothing.

28A EXT. BENNETT CLINIC - DAY

28A

SUPER: BENNETT CLINIC

A high-end private hospital.

29 INT. BENNETT CLINIC - HOSPITAL LOBBY - DAY

29

Title card: Howard Bennett, Director of Bennett Clinic, Bearer of the Sun Badge.

HOWARD BENNETT (50, M, wearing a doctor's white coat) leads Sibyl in an elegant floor-length white gown on a tour, Jack trails behind them.

HOWARD
Ms. Winston. Everything you see here was built upon the power of the Sun card. Bennett Clinic is now the finest cardiac center in the nation.

Howard gestures at the stream of staff and patients bustling back and forth across the clinic.

HOWARD (CONT'D)
As you can see...These patients have come from all over the world to seek treatment here.

JACK

My whole life, I thought our gift was in the blood. Turns out...it was never genetics. It was you?

Stacy reacts with complete composure.

JACK (CONT'D)

So this all started a hundred years ago. Which makes you... a hundred and twenty?

SIBYL

Commander...Some mysteries are better left unsolved.

Jack clears his throat and looks away.

Suddenly, a heated argument erupted at the nurses' station. A young female doctor in a white coat, EMILY (Howard's adopted daughter, 25, F, white) tears into a NURSE under her supervision, her face twisted with revulsion.

EMILY

(shrill, ice-cold)

How many times do I have to say it?
That uninsured bum doesn't go anywhere near my OR. That OR stays open for paying VIPs. We're a hospital, not a soup kitchen.

Sibyl slowly turns her head, her icy brown eyes locking onto Emily before sliding over to Howard. FREEZE FRAME.

- Episode 22 -

Howard shoots a nervous glance at Sibyl before cutting Emily off at once.

HOWARD

Emily. That is enough!

EMILY

I'm teaching these idiots how to make money--

Emily whirls around, ready to fire back, yet the moment she lays eyes on Jack, she softens her expression into a sweet, demure look.

EMILY (CONT'D)

(twirling her hair, melting into a smile)
(MORE)

EMILY (CONT'D)

Jack! Oh my God—what are you doing here?

Sibyl strides slowly forward, her high heels clicking sharply against the marble as her voice reverberates down the lobby .

SIBYL

Healing was meant to fall on everyone. Like sunlight. Rich, poor—it doesn't choose. That is why I gave your family the Sun.

(at Howard)

And you turned my gift into a cash register, Howard?

(cold, a command)

Give the card back. Now.

Cold sweat beads on Howard's forehead as he stifles a nervous cough. Emily snickers at Sibyl's white gown, her face full of scorn.

EMILY

Mm. And who's this bitch supposed to be?

(a scoff)

Sweetheart, this is Bennett Clinic. Watch your mouth.

JACK

(snapping, hard)

Behave, Emily. You don't put a price tag on a human life.

(turning to Stacy)

Sorry. This is Emily. My father's adopted daughter. My sister.

Sibyl remains silent. Howard immediately rebukes Emily.

HOWARD

Emily! That gentleman gets our best OR. Free. Move!

EMILY

Dad, he's literally homeless--

HOWARD

(Interrupting, scolding)

Now!

EMILY

(to nurses)

You heard Dr. Bennett! Prep the drifter for surgery! Go!

Emily shoves past the onlookers and storms away.

HOWARD

Ms. Winston—I am so sorry. That's on me. My management, my failure. First time it's happened. Last time it ever will. I swear.

Sibyl's displeasure deepens.

SIBYL

(displeased)

I already told you, Howard. Time's up. Give me back my card. Unless... you were planning to keep it.

Howard grows flustered and stumbles back, his shoulders hit the wall.

HOWARD

(shifty, eyes darting)

No—no, of course not! The Sun is in my wife Sarah's care. She's been locked in the lab with her research. The second she's done, it's yours. I swear it.

- Episode 23 -

Sibyl stares right through Howard.

SIBYL

Fine. Then we wait.

30

EXT. BENNETT CLINIC — GARDEN/TBD — DAY

30

Sibyl and Jack proceed down the corridor.

JACK

(hollow)

We could be waiting a long time. Maybe forever.

SIBYL

Oh? And why's that?

JACK

Because she won't see me. Fifteen years. I haven't laid eyes on her in fifteen years.

SIBYL

She won't see her own son... interesting.

Jack comes to an abrupt halt, a bitter look settling over his features.

JACK

She hates me. And she's got every reason to.

JACK (O.S.) (CONT'D)

When I was a kid—she saved my life.
Cost her the use of her hand.

AI FLASHBACK:

31

EXT. PARK PLAYGROUND — DAY (AI)

31

A loud thud. SARAH (30, F, face not shown) collapses to the ground, deathly pale. A deep, bone-deep gash tears through her arm, blood gushing freely as she clutches tightly to Jack.

LITTLE JACK

(sobbing uncontrollably)
Mommy! Mommy, no! Wake up! Please!

FLASHBACK ENDS.

32

INT. BENNETT CLINIC — VIP LOUNGE — DAY

32

JACK

(heavy) She was born to be a surgeon. Her hands were steady enough to split a strand of hair.

(a beat)
But saving me cost the use of her hands. She changed, after that.

(beat) I guess every time she looks at me...she remembers the scalpel she'll never hold again.

SIBYL

(weighted) People only look where the light falls, Jack. But some truths can only be seen in the dark.

JACK

...What's that supposed to mean?

SIBYL

You'll understand. Soon enough.

- Episode 24 -

33

INT. BENNETT CLINIC - PRE-OP ROOM - DAY

33

Fresh off heart surgery on a homeless man, Emily stands in the pre-op room swapping out her scrubs alongside Nurse LUCY.

She yanks off her latex gloves violently and hurls them into the yellow biohazard bin.

EMILY

Who is that woman? Jack actually got in my face-over her?

LUCY

Word around the floor is she's his fiancée. And the director walked--

EMILY

Fiancée? Please. Look at that white hair. She's a freak. She's nowhere near Jack's league.

34

INT. BENNETT CLINIC - HALLWAY - DAY

34

Emily and Lucy exit the operating room, spotting an elderly nurse, GRACE (70, F, nurse's uniform), carrying a tray as she walks.

LUCY

Hey-Grace. Whatcha got there?

GRACE

Banana muffins. Mr. Jack's favorite. And the blueberry ones are for Ms. Winston.

EMILY

Well, aren't you a quick study, you old bag. Five minutes in the door and you're already baking for the new boss?

Emily's eyes flicker sharply. She pulls a packet of powder and sprinkles its contents into the muffin.

EMILY (CONT'D)
(low, venomous)
One bite, and she's gone.
(turning sweet, to Grace) Go on, Grace. Walk it right over to her.

GRACE
Miss Emily—please, I can't! Ms.
Winston is Mr. Jack's guest.

Emily slaps her hard, Grace collapses to the floor.

EMILY
Did I ask for your input?

Grace cowers on the floor, too terrified to speak.

EMILY (CONT'D) Know your place, you old relic. If the Bennetts hadn't given you this job, you'd still be in some alley fighting rats for scraps.

SIBYL (O.S.)
SILENCE!

Emily spins around to find Sibyl advancing toward her.

EMILY
I'm disciplining the help. Walk away, white-haired freak.

SIBYL
(cold authority) Mind your tongue. Before it costs you.

EMILY
Bitch, let me --

A golden glow erupted from Sibyl's sapphire eyes(VFX).

- Episode 25 -

Emily opens her mouth to speak, but no sound escapes her throat. She gags silently, hands flying to her neck in panic.

An invisible force slams her to her knees. Glowing ethereal light wraps around her wrists, yanking them behind her back(VFX).

LUCY

Emily-Emily, what's going on?!

Emily glares furiously at Sibyl, snarling wordless, enraged noises between ragged coughs. Her bound wrists twist wildly behind her back as she thrashes her whole body, struggling to break free.

LUCY (CONT'D)

Somebody help! Please-somebody!

Jack and Howard arrive together.

LUCY (CONT'D)

Dr. Bennett! She can't talk-Emily can't talk!

Jack stares at the chaotic scene with a conflicted look. His gaze flicks from Sibyl to Emily. Then steps aside and carefully helps Grace stand.

Howard rushes to check on Emily anxiously, then bows respectfully to Sibyl.

HOWARD

(frantic)

Ms. Winston-please, forgive her.
She didn't mean to offend you!
(wheeling on Emily) Apologize, now!

Emily stays on her knees, blood trickling down her forehead.

EMILY

(no words form-only the shape of them)
...Sorry.

SIBYL

I'm not the one you owe.

Sibyl's eyes shift to Grace.

LUCY

Grace? A filthy servant! You want Emily kneel to her? That's insane--

HOWARD

(a savage glare at Lucy) Shut up, you idiot! Lady Winston gifted us. She gave this family the power of The Sun card. She's our master!

Emily stares in fresh shock. Resentful as she is, she turns and bows her head to Grace.

EMILY
(no words form-only the shape of them)
...Sorry.

GRACE
(looking at Sibyl)
Ms. Winston... it's all right.
Really. I'm-I'm used to it. It's nothing.

Howard and Emily dare not lift her head, yet their clenched fists and contorted faces betray their venomous rage.

- Episode 26 -

Sibyl stares coldly down at Emily on the floor. She flicks her wrist; a streak of light slices across Emily's throat(VFX), restoring her voice. Howard hurries over to steady the stumbling Emily as she rises to her feet.

HOWARD
(bowing fast)
Thank you, Ms. Winston. I'll set her straight. You have my word.

With that, Howard swiftly ushers Emily off.

JACK (low, gentle)
Grace. Are you okay?

Grace gazes at Jack, her eyes soft with affection.

GRACE
Don't worry about me. Look at you.
You've gotten so thin.
(clutching his hand)
You're home now. Stay a few extra days. Let me take good care of you.

Jack offers only a soft smile, remaining silent.

GRACE (CONT'D)
(remembering, flustered) Oh, the muffins. Never mind, I'll bake more for you and Ms. Winston.

Jack nods. Grace departs carrying her tray. Her steps are unsteady, yet her departing frame brims with quiet joy.

SIBYL

She cares for you. Truly.

JACK

Yeah. She does. She was the only warm thing in that house. My mother couldn't even remember my birthday. But Grace... she baked me a birthday cake every year.

SIBYL

Then make the time, Jack. Sit with her. Repay her while you still can.

Sibyl pauses, her voice hinting at tragedy.

SIBYL (CONT'D)

I see the light above her head dimming. She doesn't have long. Don't let her become your regret.

Jack stands stunned, his face etched with tangled emotions.

36

INT. BENNETT CLINIC - VIP LOUNGE - DAY

36

Sibyl sits in quiet repose. Grace enters with a slight limp, holding a rectangular wooden box, and presents it to Sibyl.

GRACE

(with deference)

Ms. Winston... here. What you asked for.

Sibyl glances at the wooden box yet makes no move to take it. Her expression remains unreadable.

Grace puts down the box, hesitates briefly, then pulls a neatly folded slip of paper from her chest.

GRACE (CONT'D)

They told me your rule is one card for one question.

(offering the paper)

Mrs. Bennett wrote hers down. She'd be grateful for an answer.

SIBYL

(a glance, a slow shake of the head)

This one, I can't answer.

JACK

Why not? Is it that hard?

SIBYL

(eyes settling on the box)

No. Because what's in that box is a fake.

Grace and Jack both gasp and stumble backward.

JACK

Someone swapped it. I'll find out who.

SIBYL

Don't bother. What's mine will find its way back soon enough.

KNOCKING on door. Jack goes to answer and finds Howard, soaked in sweat.

Dad...?

Howard hurries straight toward Sibyl.

HOWARD

(frantic)

Ms. Winston—we've got a problem.
Silas Vane's mother just brought in. Massive cardiac event.

(begging)

Please. We need you.

JACK

Silas Vane? The man who built his own empire...and now everyone in power wants his support? That Silas Vane?

Sibyl looks nonchalant.

37

INT. BENNETT CLINIC — ICU — DAY

37

Sibyl and Jack follow Howard to the ICU door. Silas's mother—AMANDA (80, F) lies on her deathbed, her heartbeat faint, her final vital signs sustained by machines. TWO BODYGUARDS stand by.

SILAS VANE (50, M, suit) is angrily berating the doctors and nurses nearby.

SILAS

Useless! If this is the best medicine has to offer...
I'll bury the Bennett name before sunrise!
(a whip-crack) Out!

Howard gives the staff a look. One by one, The DOCTORS AND NURSES quietly file out.

Silas spins around, his gaze locking onto Howard and the others with him.

(raking a contemptuous look over Stacy)
This is your secret weapon, Howard?
She looks more like an occultist than a surgeon.

HOWARD

Mr. Vane—this is Ms. Winston. Our consultant. I brought her in to take a look.
(dropping low, to Sibyl)
Ms. Winston—every doctor in this building is out of answers. Please.
Do something.

Sibyl walks over to Amanda's bed.

SIBYL

I'm afraid... The cards say her road ends here.

A Tarot card slips out of Sibyl's sleeve and lands in Silas's palm—the Death card laid bare (VFX).

Silas freezes in shock at first, then erupts with fury.

SILAS

What the hell? You put a curse on my mother? You got a death wish?

Silas lunges at Sibyl. Jack instantly steps between them, his hand clamping tight around Silas's wrist.

JACK

Back. Off.

The bodyguards instantly reach for their holsters, thick tension hanging heavy in the air. Silas holds Jack's stare, sensing the firm resistance, and signal them to stand down. Jack lets go of his wrist.

SILAS

(a sneer)

So this is the Bennett trick. Can't save the patient, so you bring in a con artist.

EMILY

Mr. Vane, forgive my father. She was never capable of saving your mother. But I can.

Just then, Emily strides in clad in a crisp white lab coat, her face glowing with a confidence that borders on arrogance.

- Episode 29 -

Howard's face blanches; he hastily grabs hold of Emily's arm.

HOWARD

(a terrified whisper)

Emily--what are you doing? One wrong move, and you'll bring this whole family down. Get out.

EMILY

(smug)

Relax, Dad. You underestimate me.

(to Sibyl)

Sibyl Winston. Only cowards hide behind fate. You called her dead because you're useless. Me? I say she lives--and Death can fuck off.

JACK

Emily. Watch your mouth.

Emily brushes off Jack's warning and speaks straight to Silas.

EMILY

Mr.Vane. Medicine has reached its limit. What your mother needs now..

(MORE)

EMILY (CONT'D)

lies beyond it.

(locking eyes with him)

And I'm giving you my word. I'll bring her back.

Silas stares in stunned disbelief.

SIBYL

(cold)

Emily Bennett. There's something you don't know yet. But your brother Jack does.

(a beat)

I have never misread a fate.

EMILY

(laughs)

Yeah? Care to bet me?

SIBYL

Name it.

EMILY

(venomous)

I win—you never go near Jack again.
And you put that body of yours on my table..I'll keep you alive, old hag... to make you beg for death.

At those words, Howard's knees buckle and he nearly collapses; rage surges through Jack.

HOWARD

Stop it—have you lost your mind?!
Emily!

JACK

Get out now. I mean it!

Sibyl gestures Howard and Jack to stay silent.

SIBYL

(calm) Accepted.

Jack hesitates, yet ultimately holds his tongue. Silas leans forward, watching intently.

SILAS

Very well. Pull off a miracle, Emily...and the full weight of the Vane name stands behind you.

Emily strides over to Amanda's bedside. She takes a deep breath and draws forth the Sun Tarot card.

JACK

(furious)

You're the one who swapped the card.

EMILY

(stroking the card's face)

All these years, Jack, I've been bleeding for this—training, in the dark, alone. Now? With the Sun card's power in my hands, I'll go further than your mother ever dreamed.

(soft, fevered)

And then you'll finally see me.

Jack stares on, completely dumbfounded.

(warning)

Emily. Some things you steal come with a price you can't pay. Force a life to keep burning, and it burns through you.

- Episode 30 -

EMILY

Save the spook show, old hag. I decide whether she lives or dies.

Emily clamps the Sun card firmly between two fingers, chanting as she channels the Tarot's power.

EMILY (CONT'D)

Fire of the void, life of the clay—steal this spark and light the way!

Emily then murmurs an obscure ancient Russian incantation under her breath.

JACK

That's... Siberian. Emily — where the hell does a heart surgeon learn black magic?

VFX: Streaks of golden and black light surge from the Tarot card into Amanda's chest. The medical monitor chirps sharply; the once nearly flat ECG line revives miraculously, ticking upward—40... 60... 70!

Color floods Amanda's pale cheeks, and her wrinkles soften away(VFX).

SILAS

(overcome)

Mom! Mom! Oh my God, you're back!

Emily pours more of her power into the ritual, amplifying the flow of energy(VFX).

EMILY

(crowing to the room)

You see that? I brought her back!

(rounding on Stacy)

You lost, you silver-haired bitch.

Bet's mine. Enjoy my table.

SIBYL

Are you sure?

EMILY

Big talk from an old hag with one foot in the--

EMILY (CONT'D)

Pfft--!

Without warning, a mouthful of blood sprays from her lips, splattering across the white hospital sheets, and Emily crumples to the ground.

The ECG monitor's line flatlines at once, and Amanda's face sinks back into a lifeless, ashen death mask(VFX).

SILAS

(lunging for the bed)

Mom--no--NO! Doctor! Get in here!

Somebody save her!

EMILY

AAGH-- my face! My FACE-- it's burning-- it's BURNING!

Sprawled on the floor, Emily's face ages rapidly before everyone's eyes, crisscrossed with deep wrinkles, and her raven hair turns stark gray in an instant(VFX).

She stares into a mirror, overcome with horror at her haggard, lined visage.

EMILY (CONT'D)

(a despairing wail)

No... no, not my face! What's happening to me?!

Sibyl steps forward slowly, lifting one hand faintly. The sun card floats back and settles into her palm (VFX).

She gazes down at Emily, her stare frigid as ice.

SIBYL

Emily, you never understood the price. "Steal this spark"—whose spark did you think you were stealing?

- Episode 31 -

EMILY

(Aged, screams hysterically)

Tell me why. TELL me— why is this happening to me?!

SIBYL

The Sun card only answers to healing hands and the rightful heart...

(a beat, cold)

Without both, It always collects its debt. Small miracles cost you days. Real miracles... cost your youth.

SIBYL (CONT'D)

(gaze at Emily)

And Mrs. Vane is beyond your reach. Not even your life could buy her another second. And with your rotten heart, the bill comes due faster.

Emily crumples into sobs, shaking her head wildly.

EMILY

(voice gone ragged)

No — you're lying! Sarah saved thousands with your card after she lost her hands. If that power eats life, why hasn't she aged? WHY?!

Jack whirls sharply toward Sibyl, his face heavy with gravity.

SIBYL

Who told you she hasn't?

(locking eyes with Jack)

Jack.

(MORE)

SIBYL (CONT'D)

You thought your mother stayed away because she hated you.

(beat)

NO. She was standing right beside you the whole time – just too old for you to recognize.

JACK

(his voice shaking)

What... what are you saying?

SIBYL

(sigh)

Every year on your birthday, who never forgot to bake you a cake?

Jack staggers one step backward, his eyes wide with sheer shock.

INT. BENNETT CLINIC – OUTSIDE SARAH'S OFFICE – DAY

38

Jack rushes to the door.

TWO MEDICAL ASSISTANTS (M, 30) move to stop him.

ASSISTANT 1

Mr. Bennett – you know the rule, you are not allowed to go in there!

Jack shoves the assistant aside.

ASSISTANT 2

Jack– Jack, stop! You can't--

38A

INT. BENNETT CLINIC – SARAH'S OFFICE – DAY

38A

Jack bursts into the consultation room. There, a woman in a fitted surgical cap and mask hunches over, stethoscope in trembling hands.

Jack strides forward and jerks her upright.

JACK

(nearly a roar, breaking)

LOOK AT ME!

He ignores her thrashing and rips off her mask. An aged face is revealed – Grace. Jack gasps, stunned.

(shattered)

It's true...

(MORE)

JACK (CONT'D)
it was true the whole time...
(the word tearing out)
Mom. Mom, is it really you?

- Episode 32 -

Panic flickers across Grace's eyes at the sight of Jack.

GRACE
(flustered)
Mr. Jack? What- what are you doing back here? Mrs. Bennett just stepped out...

Jack fights back tears, staring at Grace.

JACK (trembling, breaking)
Mom. Stop. Please... stop.

Grace jolts, forcing herself steady and dropping her gaze.

GRACE
Mr. Jack... you're exhausted.. It's Grace. It's just Grace.

Jack scans the room, snapping at the PATIENT and the APPRENTICE who trailed inside.

JACK Out. Everybody - OUT. Now.

They file out, leaving only Grace and Jack. Jack steps forward slowly, his voice tight with agony.

JACK (CONT'D)
This is Sarah Bennett's office.
Stop lying to me, Mom.

Grace stares at the floor, too ashamed to meet Jack's eyes.

GRACE
I've assisted Mrs. Bennett for years. I was only doing a quick intake for her. That's all...

Jack cuts her off, surging forward and yanking Grace's sleeve up.

CLOSE UP: A gnarled, twisted, old scar.

- Episode 33 -

JACK
(pointing at the scar)
Then explain THIS. I was eight.
My mother scarred her hand protecting me. That scar...
I'll know it the day I die.

Jack sinks to his knees, pulls her into his arms and weeps.

JACK (CONT'D)
(choking on it)
Mom... why won't you claim me? Why?

Grace stands rigid. Misty tears stream down her weathered cheeks. Her rough, trembling hand rises, brushing Jack's hair again and again.

GRACE
Every time I used the Sun card to save a life, it took a little more of me. Aged me. One day, after a big treatment... the wrinkles came all at once.

FLASHBACK:

39

INT. BENNETT CLINIC - SARAH'S OFFICE - DAY

39

Inside the office, Sarah slumps before the mirror, staring at the aged, wrinkled stranger staring back.

Little Jack pushes the door open, clutching a toy.

LITTLE JACK Mommy! Mommy, look, my new Transformer!

At the sight of Jack, Sarah swipes her tears away and forces a brittle smile.

SARAH (Affectionately) Jack, come here. Let Mommy hold you.

Little Jack freezes the second he sees Sarah. His toy clatters to the floor. Terrified, he staggers back and wails.

(frightened) Who are you? Where's my mommy? I want my mommy!

Sarah scrambles to smooth her hair, forcing a shaky smile.

SARAH
(panicking, forcing a smile)
Jack! Look at me! I'm Mommy! It's me, sweetheart!

LITTLE JACK
No! You're not! you're not my mommy! I want my MOMMY!

Sarah's heart shatters entirely in that instant.

SARAH
(bitter, holding it down)
...I'm sorry. I'm your new nanny. You can call me... Grace.

END FLASHBACK

40

INT. BENNETT CLINIC - SARAH'S OFFICE - DAY

40

GRACE
After that I couldn't face you. I was scared I'd frighten you. Too old. Too ugly to be your mother...

JACK
(shaking his head, fierce, eyes blazing)
No. That's not true. you've always been the most beautiful mother in the world.
(beat)
Every scraped knee... you healed. Every time I came home... you were there. Everything a mother should be...you were. I was the idiot. I was the one who couldn't see.

Grace is overcome with emotion. She whips her head aside, racked by harsh coughing.

Crimson blood seeps between her palms, spattering the white floor in a horrifying spray.

JACK (CONT'D)
(tight with fear)
Mom! What is wrong?

He holds Grace upright to steady her.

GRACE (breath failing, waving him off)
It's nothing... just my old condition acting up. I'll take my meds. I'll be fine.

Sarah reaches for the pill bottle on the nearby table. She manages to pick it up—but before she can open it, her eyes lose focus. The bottle slips from her hand. PILLS scatter across the floor. SARAH crumples.

JACK
Mom!

He catches her before she hits the ground.

JACK (CONT'D)
(frantic) Mom! Look at me!

Jack picks up a few pills and presses them to Sarah's lips.

JACK (CONT'D)
Come on... Take them. Please..

Grace does not reply.

JACK (CONT'D)
(gutted, breaking apart)
Mom — NO! Don't you leave me! Wake up!
(head snapping up, a roar)
SOMEBODY HELP HER!

42 EXT. BENNETT CLINIC — GARDEN — NIGHT

42

Night settles outside. Jack's raw, desperate wails reverberate through the walls of Bennett Clinic.

SIBYL Death is the one contract none of us can break...

Sibyl lingers in the garden, night wind stirring her snow-white hair and flowing gown.

VFX: A shooting star streaks across the dark sky.

- Episode 35 -

43

INT. BENNETT CLINIC - EMERGENCY ROOM ENTRANCE - NIGHT

43

The OR red light turns green. Howard staggers out, worn out. Grace lies on a gurney, shrouded in a white sheet.

Jack and patients huddle by the OR doors, eyes puffy and red. They surge forward.

HOWARD
(shaking his head) Jack... I did everything I could.

JACK
(devastated, hollow)
I just got my mother back... just in time to lose her forever.

PATIENT A (M,60) whispers to Howard.

PATIENT A (bowing his head) I'm so sorry. Dr. Bennett - your wife was a saint. She treated my daughter for free. Saved her life.
My family will never forget her.

HOWARD (voice rasping, all performance)
Thank you. All of you. Sarah spent her whole life burning herself down to keep other people warm... If I could trade places with her, I would. She was my soul. She was everything I had.

PATIENT B
Take what comfort you can, Dr.
Bennett. At least she left this world knowing she was loved.

JACK (head snapping up, challenging) Explain it, Dad. You knew what the card was doing to her. Why didn't you stop her?

SIBYL (O.S.)

Because your mother's life mattered less to him than the fortune it bought.

Sharp CLICK-CLICK of heels cuts through the room. All heads turn. Sibyl steps in, her stare cold.

HOWARD

Ms. Winston. My wife's body isn't even cold, and you're already making accusations? Everyone knows Bennett Clinic was built on charity. What you're suggesting is obscene.

SIBYL

Charity? Then where did all of this come from?

Sibyl flicks her wrist. Hundred-dollar bills cascade down like snow, settling over Sarah's covered form.

- Episode 36 -

PATIENT A

(snatching at the bills, gasping)

Good God— where does all this money even come from?!

SIBYL

(eyes fixed on Howard)

Cash. Stashed in his office. The charity was always the front.
Behind it, he took bribes, bumped the rich to the front of the line, and cut deals with drug companies to push fake meds on the poor. Not one shred of a healer left in him.

PATIENT B

So the rumors were true...

Patients murmurs amongst themselves. Furious, Jack lunges, seizing Howard by his collar.

JACK

(in a fury)

My mother — my good, gentle mother — burned her own life to keep strangers alive.

(MORE)

JACK (CONT'D)

And you were behind her back, lining your pockets the whole time?

SIBYL

It runs deeper than that. He couldn't stand watching her grow old — so he kept a mistress. One who knew Siberian black magic. Tell me I've got it wrong, Howard Bennett.

HOWARD

(rattled, but digging in) You— you're spewing lies! Where's your proof?

SIBYL

Your precious Emily. Isn't she proof enough?

JACK

(the floor dropping out) Emily... black magic.... That's why you always let her slide. She's your bastard daughter — from when you cheated on my mother!

HOWARD

(unraveling, jabbing a finger toward Sarah) Ms. Winston! My respect for you does not give you the right to drag my name through the mud! That money could've been Sarah's! That greedy woman could've taken it behind MY back!

VFX: BOOM! Thunder splits the sky. Fluorescent lights spasm violently. Howard crumples to the floor, terrified.

Sibyl's white hair whips around her, eyes glowing molten gold.

SIBYL

You lied to the wrong god.

- Episode 37 -

(cold)

A man like you doesn't deserve a single drop of my disciple's bloodline.

Fuming, Jack yanks Howard up and slams a fist into his face. Howard crumples to the floor.

JACK

She's been gone less than an hour, and you're already spitting on her name – you piece of shit!

Howard swipes blood from his lip, seething with rage and humiliation.

HOWARD

(hysterical)

Jack – you're a man. You should understand! Waking up to that face every day – old, withered – tell me what man wouldn't feel his stomach turn!

JACK

Shut your mouth! As of right now, I don't have a father!

HOWARD

Jack, I would've carried it for your mother if I could! But the Sun card only passes to women.

Sibyl glides forward, her gaze frigid.

SIBYL

Another lie.

(soft, but firm)

I never made that rule. There is no burden in this world that only for women to carry.

HOWARD

Enough! You're a woman too – of course you take her side!

She advances on Howard, staring him down with every slow step.

SIBYL

You just swore you'd carry it all if you could.

(a beat)

Let me grant your wish.

Sibyl turns her palm upward. The Sun tarot card floats up, glowing soft green (VFX).

Howard watches it, horrified.

SIBYL (CONT'D)

From this moment... it's yours.

Howard scrambles backward on hands and feet, voice shrill with terror.

HOWARD

(terrified)

No! NO— I don't want it! Take it back! TAKE IT BACK!

Sibyl snaps her fingers. The card blazes into a streak of light and buries itself straight into Howard's chest (VFX).

HOWARD (CONT'D)

AAGH—!

Howard lets out a shrill scream, writhing wildly on the floor.

VFX: Howard ages rapidly. His black hair bleeds white in an instant, his skin shrivels, and his tailored suit hangs loose over his shrunken frame. The polished middle-aged man turns into a frail, gasping centenarian in seconds.

The onlookers gasp in shock.

Sibyl flicks her wrist. The tarot card bursts out of Howard's chest(VFX). He collapses, unconscious.

A gust of wind sweeps the white sheet off Sarah's body. The card drifts over and merges into her chest(VFX).

Her cold, stiff fingers twitch. Her lashes flutter—then her eyes fly open once again.

JACK

(tears spilling over, a joyful whisper)

Mom?

- Episode 38 -

JACK (CONT'D)

Mom! You're back?! You're really back!

Jack darts to the bed and grips his mother's hand tight. The onlookers erupt in relief.

Sarah gazes at her son, a soft, dazed smile tugging at her lips.

GRACE
(tears sliding down)
My sweet boy. I'm here. I'm right here.

JACK (eyes red too)
Mom...

They hold each other, tears streaming down their faces.

SIBYL
The years the Sun card took from your face... I can't return those.
But I transferred thirty years of Howard's life into yours, and your hand is whole again. So from here on - live. Really live.

SARAH
(through tears)
I can pick up a scalpel again... I can still save people. Ms. Winston - you've given me a second life. I could never repay you.

Jack rises, walks to Sibyl, and drops to his knees.

JACK
Ms. Winston. You saved my mother - and freed me from a lifetime of lies. From this day on, I'll follow you wherever you lead. My strength, my life, my soul - they're yours to command.

Sibyl stands motionless, gazing down at the kneeling Jack.
She gives a faint nod and speaks.

SIBYL
....Then remember what you swore tonight, Jack Bennett.

- Episode 39 -

Static shot; Heavy black clouds blanket the sky.

Sibyl stands alone in the garden, a lonely silhouette. Jack approaches, clutching a wooden box.

JACK

Ms. Winston. This card — it's time it came home to you.

VFX: Sibyl flicks her hand. The Sun card rises and melts into a beam of light, sinking into her chest.

KEY VFX SHOT: The dark clouds split open at once. A dazzling golden sunbeam crashes down, bathing Sibyl. Her white hair slowly blazes into brown, her skin glowing luminous, her aura surging with overwhelming power.

JACK (CONT'D)

You've changed... again.

Sibyl stares into the golden light, tears streaming down her cheeks.

JACK (CONT'D)

What is it? Are you hurt?

SIBYL

This card carries so many lives. I can feel every soul it ever pulled back from the edge.

(a hand pressed to her chest)

Right here... it's so heavy.

Jack pulls a crisp handkerchief from his pocket and offers it to Sibyl.

Here.

(lightening the mood)

So... the rule is one card, one question, right?

SIBYL

Your mother already used hers.

Sibyl meets Jack's eyes, stretches out her slim fingers and rests them lightly on his forehead. Soft golden light hums from her fingertips(VFX).

GRACE (O.S.)

Ms. Winston... I'm not asking for riches or power. I only want to know one thing... my son. My Jack.
Will he be safe? Will he have a good life?

JACK

After everything she gave up, the only future she asked about was mine. Mom...

SIBYL

Jack, your thread of fate ends at the Northern frontier. If you choose to follow me to Siltgard, you'll throw yourself in front of a death meant for another soul.

JACK

(caught off guard)
For who?

SIBYL

For me.

Jack freezes, stunned disbelief etched across his face.

SIBYL (CONT'D)

It's all right. This was always meant to be a journey I take alone.
You can stay. Farewell, Jack

Sibyl turns and leaves. Jack watches her depart, his eyes heavy with tangled emotions. Wind sweeps her long hair, lending her a lonely, distant air.

A black suit jacket suddenly settles over her shoulders to ward off the chill. Jack stands directly behind her.

JACK

(low, a magnetic rasp)
I'm going.

Sibyl glances over her shoulder, faint confusion flickering in her eyes.

SIBYL

Did you not hear the prophecy?
You'll die. My prophecy never..

JACK

Never fails. I know. I've seen it with my own eyes. If I've got to die for someone – dying for you doesn't sound like the worst way to go.

*

Sibyl studies him intently for the first time, a faint smile tugging at her lips. She lets go of all hesitation.

She turns forward, and the two walk side by side, toward the gathering Northern storm.

- Episode 41 -

45

EXT. MERCENARY MILITARY BASE - MAIN GATE - DAY

45

Jack and Sibyl drive up to the Northern Frontier Mercenary Military Base. Tall walls encircle the base. Jack steps forward, knocks on the gate, and calls out.

JACK (shouting) Jack Bennett! We're here at Commander Reed's invitation! Open the gate!

Up in the watchtower, a SENTRY moves to reply--until his face drains of all color. He stares in horror at the space behind them and lets out a shrill scream.

SENTRY A RUN! You idiots! RUN! Get away from there!

An eerie black mist crashes down. Countless zombie-like Void-walkers surge toward them, akin to undead horrors(AI).

*
*

Jack dives back into the car, twists the wheel.

The car slams into reverse, charging straight into the horde(AI).

Jack leans out of the sunroof, firing his rifle frantically.

Rat-a-tat-tat! Bullets tear through their bodies, yet the monsters only twitch and stagger back to their feet, advancing unhindered, completely impervious to gunfire(AI).

JACK
What the hell ARE these things?
Bullets don't even stop them?!

Sibyl's eyes flutter open in the backseat. She gracefully pushes open the car door and casually tosses a Crystal Ball into the air.

VFX: The Crystal Ball spins violently mid-air, unfurling a pale golden hemispherical barrier that seals the Void-Walkers outside.

Sibyl opens her palm, and the Judgment card slowly floats upward.

SIBYL (Chanting) From ash to ash... Return to the silent dark!

VFX: Blinding holy flames burst forth from the card, incinerating every Void-Walker within a mile radius.

Once the flames fade, a wisp of eerie black mist curls gently across the card surface (VFX)□.

SIBYL (CONT'D)
This obsession... I've felt it before.

Jack immediately steps forward to check on Sibyl.

JACK
(breathing hard)
Ms. Winston, you all right?

The sentry on the wall witnesses the entire scene and shouts excitedly into his walkie-talkie.

SENTINEL A
She wiped them out! Every last one of them – alone!
(calling down to Stacy)
Who– who ARE you?!

SIBYL
(lightly) Sibyl Winston.

The massive gates swing wide. A lively young man PATRICK REED (20, M, casual attire), races out. His eyes shine bright as stars, like he's come face-to-face with a living legend.

PATRICK
(enthusiastically) Ms. Winston! It's really you! My great-grandfather's journals were full of stories about you!

SIBYL
Patrick Reed. Your great-grandfather, Byron Reed, was a good kid.

46

EXT. UNDER A TREE IN THE COUNTRYSIDE - DAY

46

SUPER: OVER A CENTURY EARLIER

YOUNG BYRON (played by the same actor as PATRICK)

TITLE CARD: BYRON REED, FIRST-GENERATION HOLDER OF THE CHARIOT TAROT

Young Byron circles Sibyl as she reads beneath a tree.
Clutching a crudely woven wildflower wreath, he slips it gently onto her head while her attention is elsewhere.

BYRON

(beaming)

Come on, Ms. Winston. You have the most beautiful smile.

Sibyl can no longer focus on her book amid his mischief and shuts it with a huff. A soft smile tugs at the corners of her lips as she taps his forehead lightly.

SIBYL

(all indulgence)

Wild boy.

END FLASHBACK.

46A

EXT. MERCENARY MILITARY BASE - MAIN GATE - DAY

46A

SIBYL

(her eyes going soft for just a breath)

You're so like him.

PATRICK

We've waited for you a long, long time. Please, come with me!

- Episode 42 -

47

INT. MERCENARY MILITARY BASE - MERCENARY BARRACKS - DAY

47

Gunpowder hangs heavy in the air within the compound walls.
Patrick leads Sibyl and Jack through the barracks.

PATRICK

I'm sorry about the lockdown, Ms.
Winston. Soon as the sun goes down, the Void-walkers crawl out of the dark.

(MORE)

PATRICK (CONT'D)

My sister-in-law sealed every gate we have - keeps them out, keeps us breathing.

JACK

Alright - somebody want to tell me what I'm looking at here?

PATRICK

This is no-man's-land. Not on any map. For generations, the Reeds have held this frontier, keeping the things that aren't human from crossing into our world.

(beat)

Then six months ago, my father, Commander Carter, came back from a special op half-dead. After that, this place turned into hell.

JACK

Walls and weapons...none of it works?

PATRICK

(a hopeless shake of the head)

Headshots, only. Otherwise, they just... get back up. Over and over.

JACK

No offense, kid - you don't exactly read like a guy raised on a base.
More like a desk jockey.

PATRICK

(looking away, embarrassed)

...Fair enough. Fighting was never my thing. They keep me on logistics.

(to sibyl)

Ms. Winston... please. Save my father. He's been unconscious for months. My sister-in-law, Maya, the Deadeye Queen has been holding the line for us.

SIBYL

(a slight nod)

Take me to him.

THUD. Bullet skims past everyone's feet, lands in the ground.

MAYA (30, F, fierce, military uniform) leaps down from a high platform, carrying a sniper rifle. Maya and Sibyl exchange a glance.

MAYA

Patrick! You brought a stranger into our base?!

PATRICK

(covering Sibyl)

Maya, this is Ms. Winston. She's the one who gave us the Chariot card. Dad always said she'd come back for the card one day. And she might be the only person who can save him.

MAYA

(a cold scoff, leveling the rifle at Stacy))

Save him? Or pick over our bones while we're bleeding out?

(beat)

You want to see the Commander? Then you do it by Reed rules.

SIBYL

(not even a blink)

Oh? And what rules would those be?

MAYA

Every outsider runs my gauntlet first. Can't hack it, you don't set one foot past this gate.

Jack steps forward, positioning his shoulder to shield Sibyl.

JACK

Whatever the gauntlet is – I run it for her.

Astra stands silent.

MAYA

(a flicker of respect)

You've got guts. Let's see how long that lasts. Move.

50 INT. MERCENARY MILITARY BASE - WAREHOUSE - DAY

50

A dimly lit room. A rough wooden table sits in the center. Patrick scrambles nervously to block Jack's path, his body trembling with unease.

PATRICK

(fast, pleading)

Jack - listen to me! This isn't a gauntlet, it's a suicide! She's not just the best shot in this whole unit - she's the damn craziest!

Jack calmly brushes Patrick's hand away, walks over to Sibyl, and offers her a reassuring smile.

JACK

So is this it? The moment you saw - where I die?

Jack and Maya take seats at opposite ends of the table.

Maya slams a revolver onto the wood. She flicks the cylinder into a smooth spin, her fingertips brushing lightly over the only brass bullet chambered inside.

MAYA

(a taunting curl at her lip)

Rules are simple. Russian roulette. One bullet. Whoever's still breathing gets to talk terms.

Maya snaps the cylinder closed, gives it a sharp spin, and locks it firm. Without a flicker of fear, she presses the gun's muzzle to her temple.

MAYA (CONT'D)

Ladies first.

Click. The chamber is empty. Without the slightest flinch, she slides the pistol toward Jack. He snatches it without hesitation and slams the barrel hard against his own temple.

JACK

(dead in her eyes, a wild grin)

My turn.

Jack's index finger curls around the trigger.

The room falls deathly silent. HEART BEAT.

- Episode 44 -

Click. Jack's gun is also empty. Round one ends, both of them unscathed.

Round two. Maya's gaze grows even more fierce as she presses it against her temple once more. Click. Empty.

She flings the gun at Jack. Unflinching, Jack quickly pulls the trigger. Click. Empty.

MAYA

(breath ragged, sweat sliding down her cheek)

Two left, Jack. Death's sitting in one of these chambers. Waiting on us.

It's Maya's turn. She picks up the gun with trembling hands, just as she's about to pull the trigger, a five-year-old BOY runs in.

THE BOY

(a bright little shout)

Mommy! What are you doing in here?

MAYA

(split-second distraction, pupils blowing wide)

No - stay back!

Her fingers clench in shock. Jack moves lightning-fast. He slams Maya's arm aside, snatches the revolver, and fires straight into the ceiling.

BANG! Sparks shower down. The whole room freezes.

JACK

Dying in front of your kid isn't a cool goodbye.

Maya pulls the little boy into a tight hug, her eyes rimmed red. She glances over at Jack, clear admiration in her gaze.

MAYA

Bet's a bet. You won. Tomorrow I take you to the Commander.

Jack swipes cold sweat from his forehead, crosses to Sibyl, and flashes a mischievous grin, heavy relief softening his features.

JACK (loose with relief)
Guess your prophecy missed one, Ms.
Winston. I just put my own death sentence through the ceiling.

Sibyl tilts her head and regards him, clearly amused.

SIBYL
It was a blank.

MAYA
(a cold scoff)
You knew? The whole time? ...Guess
I had you pegged wrong.

SIBYL (ignoring Maya, a glance at Jack)
If you truly think you can defy fate...this might actually be interesting.

51

INT. MERCENARY MILITARY BASE - SIBYL BARRACKS - NIGHT

51

WIND HOWLS. Jack sits in the living room, buffing his gun with a coarse rag. Sibyl sits silent nearby. Patrick strides over, two thick wool blankets draped in his arms.

PATRICK
(sunny) Ms. Winston! Jack! This place turns into an icebox after dark. Couldn't sleep thinking about you two freezing, so I dug up a couple extra wool blankets.

SIBYL
Thoughtful of you.

JACK (taking the blanket, a small smile) Appreciate it, Patrick.

Patrick does not leave at once. He crouches beside the warm fireplace, glancing at Jack with awkwardness, his eyes glinting with burning curiosity.

PATRICK

Jack... What's it like? Seeing the South with your own eyes.

JACK

(hands going still, eyes going far away)
The rivers catch the sun like melted gold. And the wind comes in smelling like wet earth and magnolia.

PATRICK

(awed, aching for it)
Magnolia... I'd give anything to see it for myself.
(under his breath)
All we've got out here is gunsmoke and dust.

JACK

(a hand on Patrick's shoulder)
The day Ms. Winston gets her Chariot back, I'll take you South myself. Show you a magnolia in bloom.

Patrick leaves with satisfaction and hope. Sibyl slowly opens her eyes.

SIBYL

(cool)
Why are you working that boy? Magnolias? That doesn't sound like ex-Special Forces small talk.

JACK

I'm just giving him a reason to stay alive.

SIBYL

Or you don't trust Maya to hand over the card. So you've already started building your Plan B.

Jack watches Sibyl, an amused look on his face.

JACK

Yeah. I did some digging. Commander Carter Reed should've ended up like this. Someone let it happen. My money's on Maya.

(Sibyl looks at Jack)

Two years back. Maya's husband, Richard, called for backup. It never came. He died. Left Maya and the kid with nothing. She's had every reason to hate this place.

SIBYL

The truth usually hides under the surface.

JACK

If you see it, why not just tell me?

Stacy falls silent, no response.

INT. MERCENARY MILITARY BASE - CARTER BARRACKS BEDROOM - DAY

The next day, Maya pushes open the door to Carter's quarters, with Patrick, Jack and Sibyl trailing right behind her.

MAYA

Whatever you're about to see in there, keep it together.

They enter the room. Jack steps toward the bed. He gasps sharply and tightens his grip on his pistol hilt. Commander Carter sits rigid on the bed's edge, propped up by a cane.

Title card: CARTER REED, HOLDER OF THE CHARIOT TAROT

The entire right side of his body—from the base of his neck down to his fingertips—hardens into coarse, gray granite.

The camera closes in on Carter's left eye. It shifts faintly, brimming with bottomless despair.

- Episode 47 -

JACK

This is the man who led Siltgard?
The War God... Carter Reed?

MAYA

(eyes rimming red)
Yeah. This is our "War God." Six months ago, he got hit, and the stone started spreading out from the wound.

PATRICK

(off to the side, shaking)
That's why Maya won't let anyone see him. He's... slowly turning to stone. The doctors say there's nothing medicine can do..

Sibyl steps forward. Her fingertips brush lightly across the cold stony flesh.

SIBYL

It's obsession... crystallizing.

PATRICK

(startled) Obsession?

SIBYL

Carter Reed's life ended six months ago.

(her gaze burning)
But one unfulfilled desire chained his soul to this body. The Chariot answered that desire...and it grew into an obsession. Turned inward...it became the stone consuming his body. Turned outward...it became the Void-walkers consumes the living.

JACK

Those Void-walkers are his obsession...given form? What kind of will could give birth to an army like this?

Beep! A shrill alarm suddenly slices through the silence.

- Episode 48 -

The alarm wails loud enough to fill the air.

MAYA

What the hell? Void-walkers? In broad daylight?

SIBYL

The stone and the Void-walkers are one and the same. The stronger one becomes... the stronger the other follows.

MAYA

Then... if the stone covers Dad completely... that means...

SIBYL

The Void-walkers seize the Chariot for good. And swallow everything here.

Maya racks her weapon, her eyes sharp with unshakable resolve.

MAYA

Hold this position. I'm taking the fight outside. Blow their damn heads off myself!

Maya turns and strides out of the barracks.

PATRICK

(desperate)

Ms. Winston, please – just take the card back! It's right in his chest! Pull it out and save everyone!

SIBYL

(her expression hard)

I can't. The holder has to lay the obsession down himself – give me the Chariot of his own free will. Not even I can pull it loose.

PATRICK

Then what do we do?

SIBYL

I'm going inside his mind.

Sibyl pulls out the crystal ball and presses it into Jack's hands.

SIBYL (CONT'D)

Set this outside the door. It raises a barrier – keeps me from being disturbed. But if that barrier falls...

(to Jack)

(MORE)

SIBYL (CONT'D)

You run. Save yourself. I've got no use for a dead follower.

JACK

(taking the orb, a fierce, locked-in grin)
Not happening, lady. Long as I'm still breathing, nobody gets through that door.

SIBYL

Forget my prophecy already?

JACK

I'll handle it.

54

EXT. MERCENARY MILITARY BASE - OUTSIDE CARTER BARRACKS - DAY

Jack steps out of the barracks and sets the crystal ball inside a magic ring of white candles near the doorway.

VFX: Pale blue ripples burst outward at once, wrapping the room and the whole barracks in a glowing barrier.

55

INT. MERCENARY MILITARY BASE - CARTER BARRACKS BEDROOM - DAY

Sibyl brushes her fingertip gently against Carter's forehead.

SIBYL

Wake up, Carter Reed. And bring every ancestor who won't rest with you - it's time to face the truth.

Carter's left eye flies wide open. VFX: His pupil flickers with fleeting visions of every Chariot Tarot bearer throughout centuries, each locked in brutal combat amid global wars (AI).

56

EXT. MERCENARY MILITARY BASE - OUTSIDE CARTER BARRACKS - DAY

Outside the barracks, Void-walkers slam relentlessly against the pale blue rippling barrier conjured by the crystal ball (AI+LIVE). Jack stands with his back to the door, pistol in hand, staring fixedly at the raging chaos ahead.

Patrick suddenly bolts out of the room. He screams in pure terror.

PATRICK

Jack! It's bad — the Chariot lashed back mid-ritual! Ms. Winston's coughing blood!

Jack rushes back into the room at once. Patrick's gaze locks on the glowing crystal ball, his eyes turning icy cold.

57

INT. MERCENARY MILITARY BASE - CARTER BARRACKS BEDROOM - DAY

Jack hurries back into the room where Sibyl channels her spell, relieved to find her completely unharmed.

JACK

(it hits him)

SHIT!

58

EXT. MERCENARY MILITARY BASE - OUTSIDE CARTER BARRACKS - DAY

Jack spins around and bolts out the door.

Patrick snatches the crystal ball, then whirls and sprints into the churning dust.

VFX: The pale blue light barrier shielding the base fades away in an instant.

JACK

(pupils contracting, roar)

Patrick! You bastard! What are you DOING?

- Episode 49 -

Dust whirls violently through the air. Patrick stands atop a nearby rise, squeezing Sibyl's crystal ball hard in his fist.
His face contorts into wild, raving madness—nothing remains of the mild, obedient boy he once was.

PATRICK

Ha! No point keeping up the act anymore.

JACK

(catching up, gun trained on Jon)

Put it back, Patrick. Or don't you want your father saved?

PATRICK

(a shrill, ice-cold laugh) Saved? Jack... you really thought the traitor was Maya? It was me. I I led him straight into the swarm.

JACK

Why? Why the hell would you do it?

PATRICK

Look at that wall, Jack! Look at the Reed graveyard! My great-grandfather. My grandfather. My brother. Every one of them died for so-called "glory." We never had a home. We had this. This goddamn unit saves everyone but us.

JACK

(trying to move in)
They made their choice, Patrick.
That was their duty...

PATRICK

(a hysterical roar, the orb thrust overhead)
No! It was a curse! That Chariot card is the root of every damn thing we've suffered! Long as it exists, we're born soldiers and buried weapons. We're never free.
So let me be the one who ends it.

Patrick violently pours his seething hatred into the crystal ball.

VFX: The crystal ball greedily devours the surging negative energy, its pristine glow warping into an ominous purplish-black hue.

AI: Countless pitch-black Void-walkers surge up from the ground, massing densely behind Patrick.

PATRICK (CONT'D)

(pointing Jack's way, voice gone ragged)
Go! Kill every last one of them!
Tear that rotting Chariot to shreds!

Jack stares at the surging horde of Void-walkers, knowing persuasion is no longer an option.

JACK
You picked hell, kid. Let me get you there.

The camera pulls wide. A tidal wave of endless black shadows crashes toward Jack(AI+live), yet he holds his ground, perfectly still.

- Episode 50 -

AI:Swarms of Void-walkers surge straight for Jack.

Jack unleashes a savage roar and fires both pistols in a blazing rapid barrage.

JACK (CONT'D) (gasping, holding the doorway)
You want in there... you go through my corpse first!

59

INT. MERCENARY MILITARY BASE - CARTER BARRACKS - DAY

59

Sibyl keeps her eyes tightly shut, fully focused on sustaining her spell. As the crisis outside escalates, the petrified sections of Carter's body start to splinter, sharp STONE-SHATTERING CRACKS echoing through the room(VFX).

SIBYL (V.O.)
The hatred... it's turning on him... Carter, hold on...

60

INT. CARTER'S MENTAL REALM - DAY

60

A pristine, tranquil white void stretches out endlessly.

Sibyl stands at its center, face to face with an unmarred, fully human Carter.

CARTER (Staring at Sibyl in shock)
Those eyes... that presence... I know you. Every Chariot holder before me whispers in my blood.
They said it - we would meet again.... You've finally returned... my Master.

SIBYL
(cold, gliding toward him)
On your knees. Right where you belong, Carter Reed. Look at the Siltgard you built with your own hands.

Sibyl flicks her sleeve, and the illusory sky splits open in an instant(VFX), laying bare the grim reality of the outside world-the soldiers clashing with the Void-walkers (AI).

SIBYL (CONT'D)
You told yourself the obsession was protection. But it became a greedy tumor. That final breath you forced yourself to keep – it's burning your army to ash.

Carter shudders violently. He stares down at his hands, the steely resolve in his eyes crumbling away bit by bit.

CARTER
I only wanted to protect them...
Instead... I became the thing that threatens them.

SIBYL (towering over him, her voice ethereal) Let go, Carter. Give them all their peace back.

63 INT. CARTER'S MENTAL REALM – DAY 63

In the hallucination, Carter, kneeling on the ground, suddenly transforms into a young BYRON CARTER (20, M, military uniform, played by the same actor as Patrick).

BYRON

But we can't, Ms. Winston. A century ago, I swore the Reeds would defend mankind to our last breath. We've been living on that last breath ever since.

SIBYL

(slowly crouching, her hand on his cheek)

A promise was never meant to be a chain on your soul. You've done enough. Set the weight down. Leave the rest to me.

Byron lifts his gaze and meets Sibyl's eyes—eyes that seem to cradle the whole world in their calmness. At last, he lets go of all his tension and relaxes completely.

BYRON

Ms. Winston... you told me once. One card, one question. So before I go, I...

SIBYL

Ask it.

BYRON

These hundred years... have you been alright?

Sibyl frowns.

INT. MERCENARY MILITARY BASE — CARTER BARRACKS BEDROOM — DAY

Thud! The door gives way. Jack is thrown backward into the room, crashing hard onto the floor. Fresh wounds

A VOID LEADER (This requires a zombie-like actor, M, 30) walks in, ignores Jack, and surges toward Sibyl.

Sibyl stays perfectly still, her consciousness still trapped within Carter's mind.

The moment the Void Leader lunges to strike her, he freezes abruptly. He glances down to find Jack has driven a knife through his foot, pinning him solidly to the ground.

JACK

(coughing up blood)

Don't you... touch her!

65

INT. CARTER'S MENTAL REALM - DAY

Sibyl looks stunned by Byron's question. She pauses, then breaks into a relieved smile.

SIBYL

Wild boy... I've been alright.

BYRON

Byron and Carter appear together in front of her.

CARTER

Thank you...

BYRON (CONT'D)

for bringing me home.

66

INT. MERCENARY MILITARY BASE - CARTER BARRACKS BEDROOM - DAY

The Void Leader kicks Jack away, bares his fangs, and lunges to sink his teeth into Jack's neck. Black fog engulfs Jack as blood streams from his wounds(VFX).

JACK

(raging, desperate)

AAARGH!!!

Jack grapples with the zombie-like Void Leader, standing firm to shield the unconscious Sibyl.

As Jack's breath runs out, a violent shockwave bursts out of Sibyl (VFX), and she jolts awake.

On the bed, the thick stone encasing Carter flakes off in large chunks and dissolves into wisps as Carter himself fades into light (VFX).

VFX: Only the Chariot card remains with brilliant golden light. It floats back into Sibyl's grasp. She merges the card into her body.

The Void Lord freezes mid-attack on Jack, then dissolves into pale blue smoke without a single shriek(VFX).

The dust settles. Heavy silence falls over the room.

CLOSE UP: COVERED IN BLOOD, JACK'S BODY SLUMPED BACKWARD.

- Episode 53 -

Outside, The golden glow dims, and all Void-walkers disappear(AI).

Patrick staggers inside, clutching a fractured crystal ball. He sees the bare bed and stone ash scattered across the floor, realizing his father is lost and his scheme shattered.

Patrick pulls a concealed pistol and levels it at Sibyl's back.

Still drained after reclaiming The Chariot card, Sibyl cannot react fast enough.

PATRICK
(screams, eyes blood-red) No – it's not over! You witch! I'll kill you!

BANG! A figure surges forward. Driven by raw instinct, Jack expends his last reserves to shield Sibyl, taking the bullet meant for her.

Jack collapses to his knees.

Stacy turns sharply. Sibyl trembles the first time, reaching out to hold him in her arm.

SIBYL
Jack!

Blood spills from Jack's mouth, yet he manages a pained smile.

JACK Guess... your prophecy... never misses.

SIBYL
(uncontrollable grief)
So fate really can't be rewritten... can it?

Sibyl tightens her grip on Jack's hand as it slips from her hold.

Is fate truly inescapable...?

CLOSE UP: A DROP OF SIBYL'S TEAR FALL ONTO JACK'S FACE .

- Episode 54 -

Jack's eyes drift shut. His body turns cold, slumping lifelessly into Sibyl's arms.

Patrick's gun hand shakes violently. The madness in his gaze fades into raw fear, yet he lifts the barrel once again, aiming straight at Sibyl.

PATRICK (screaming, his voice cracking into sobs) Die! You monster!

As Patrick pulls the trigger, Sibyl lifts her gaze. Her once-calm eyes blaze with a ferocious crimson flame(VFX). The air stills entirely, the former golden light devoured by a suffocating purple-black aura (VFX).

SIBYL Monster?

With a flick of her wrist, Sibyl snaps Patrick's wrist from afar, sending the gun clattering to the floor. An invisible force pins him to the wall by his throat (VFX), leaving him gasping and turning purple .

BANG! A battered Maya bursts into the room. At the sight of Jack's fallen body and the strangled Patrick, her sniper rifle slips from her hands and clatters down.

MAYA (knees behind Sibyl)
Don't... Ms. Winston! I'm begging you!

SIBYL
He betrayed his family. He killed the man who shielded me. He dies.

MAYA (kneels)
He's the last Reed blood left...
He's just a kid.

Sibyl's hand freezes mid-air, her face contorted with unrelenting rage, refusing to release her hold (VFX).

Shrouded in dark purple mist, Patrick writhes in agony, gasping for air as his life hangs by a thread (VFX).

- Episode 55 -

Maya begs desperately.

MAYA (CONT'D)
Please - for the sake of the Reeds, spare this poor, broken boy. All he wanted was to leave this place.

Sibyl hesitates, then sharply retracts her hand. The dark purple mist enveloping Patrick dissipates at once(VFX). He crumples to his knees against the wall, coughing violently and vomiting mouthfuls of blood. Dazed and unfocused, he lifts his eyes toward the rushing Maya.

MAYA (CONT'D)

Why did you do this? Why would you destroy yourself?

PATRICK

(smiling bitterly)

Because I... I couldn't watch you hold a gun anymore. Maya, I watched you crawl out from under the dead...over and over. I watched this place take everything from you. I just wanted to get you out. See you in a dresses like the war never touched you.

Maya freezes, her sorrow hardening into quiet resolve. She holds his face.

MAYA

(her voice raw but absolutely steady)

Patrick, you got it wrong. I chose to stay here. This battlefield became part of me a long time ago.

The last flicker of obsession in Patrick's eyes dies out entirely, replaced by a childlike, remorseful despair.

PATRICK

I thought... you hated this cage as much as I did.

MAYA

It's my duty. I hold the line, I keep the peace – I protect the world I love.

PATRICK

So I was the only one... who couldn't make peace with it.

(broken, fading)

If you can... take my ashes... South. Bury me... under the magnolias. Let me... see them once.

Maya's heart shatters. She cannot speak, only nods heavily as tears spill down onto Patrick's face.

Patrick's hand lies limp in the pooling blood, his eyes still open.

- Episode 56 -

Sibyl lowers her gaze to Jack in her arms.

The SUV speeds down the rugged dirt road(AI). Jack grips the steering wheel, glancing back at Sibyl, who rests her eyes in the back seat. *

JACK

Ms. Winston... this Chariot card.
What actually is it?

SIBYL
It's a drop of my own heart's blood. Whoever holds it is given extraordinary power in battle.
Bringing all the cards home is my calling.

Jack falls quiet for a beat, then offers her a faint smile.

JACK (gripping the wheel, his tone going serious)
Divine power, disciples, whatever.

INT. MERCENARY MILITARY BASE - CARTER BARRACKS BEDROOM - DAY

Sibyl puts Jack on the floor and kneels beside his cold corpse.

SIBYL

A hundred years ago, I answered fate's call — and I lost everything.

The grief in her eyes hardens into frantic resolve. She finger tip points at her heart like cutting something out (vfx).

A drop of blood flies out.(VFX) Ignoring the agony, she does not hesitate, swiftly tracing an ancient, defiant magic array across the floor.

SIBYL (CONT'D)

But this time... I refuse to obey it.

The array erupts in blinding crimson light(VFX). Sibyl presses her palms flat against Jack's chest. Her sacred heart's blood morphs into thin, lightning-like tendrils, piercing his skin and weaving into his broken meridians, forging an irreversible primal bond(VFX).

The corruption clinging to Jack's skin is violently purged by the divine power, leaving luminous dark-red runes etched across his neck and wrists (VFX).

SIBYL (CONT'D)

My blood the conduit. The Chariot the bone. RISE!

Jack's chest heaves violently. His fractured bones creak and knit back together. The chariot-shaped plate sinks steadily into his heart(VFX).

CLOSE UP: JACK SUDDENLY GRABS SIBYL'S HAND

A dark red glow flares in both their eyes. The runes on their wrists flicker in unison. A crimson beam bridges their chests, sealing their eternal bond(VFX).

INT. MERCENARY MILITARY BASE - SIBYL BARRACKS - DAY

68

Jack lies resting on the sofa. Sibyl sits quietly beside him, her gaze fixed softly on his sleeping face.

Her fingertip hovers gently over Jack's brow, releasing a faint wisp of magical aura (VFX).

Jack's eyelashes twitch faintly. Sibyl's finger seems brushed by a subtle burn(VFX). She pulls her hand back swiftly and gracefully, reverting to her usual aloof composure.

Jack slowly stirs awake, only to realize in shock that he has been lying on Sibyl's lap. He scrambles to his feet, utterly flustered and at a loss for words.

JACK (flustered)
Sorry... Ms. Winston, I...

Before Jack can utter a word, a shadow cuts through the air. A long-lurking ASSASSIN (20S FEMALE) leaps out suddenly, a silenced pistol flaring with a burst of gunfire in her grip.

THUD-! The bullet aims straight at Sibyl's heart.

The movement is too swift for the naked eye to track. Jack darts in front of Sibyl (VFX)with a single casual wave of his hand.(VFX)

CLANG! A sharp, metallic clang. The scorching brass bullet rests firmly clamped between Jack's fingers.

The assassin gapes.

JACK (CONT'D)
Now where the hell did you crawl out of?

He flicks his wrist, and the bullet streaks forth, piercing the assassin's throat in an instant (VFX).

JACK (CONT'D)
My body... what the hell happened to me?

Jack steps forward to inspect the masked assassin, spotting a strange symbol tattooed on his forearm.

JACK (CONT'D)
That's the Crimson Veil's ink.
Elite contract killers out of the East. And I just caught their round bare-handed?

Jack turns toward Sibyl, ready to voice a question, but she lifts her fingers and presses them gently over his lips.

SIBYL

(calm, possessive)

You were dying yesterday. Past anything ordinary could bring back. So I rebuilt you with the blood of my own heart – and bound the Chariot to yours. You carry that card now. There aren't many people left in this world who could touch you.

(leaning to his ear, her breath cool)

But there is a price... from this moment, you don't belong to yourself. You're mine. My one and only puppet. Blood to blood, life and death together.

Looking at the woman before him—both his savior and his master, Jack grins.

JACK

So what you're telling me is... I'm your little pet now?

(beat)

Well... the way you make it sound... that's not a bad deal at all.

The camera freezes on the crimson contract marks flickering simultaneously on both their wrists (VFX).

- Episode 59 -

Jack glances down at his hands, then lifts his gaze to Sibyl. Their eyes meet all at once. THUMP, THUMP, THUMP.

SIBYL

Don't look at me like that. The Chariot was forged from my own heart's blood to begin with – and now it beats as your heart. Body and soul—you're my masterpiece...My heart's labor.

*
*
*

Jack's easy, carefree demeanor fades away entirely.

JACK

You defied fate itself – for me?

Without the slightest hesitation, he drops to one knee before Sibyl, Looking up at her, eyes burning, devout, certain

JACK (CONT'D)

Then maybe this is my real fate.
From this day on, Jack Bennett's life belongs to you. Only you. God or devil, anything that wants to touch you tears through my bones first. This life and the next — I'm your shield. I'm your sword.

Touched by his sincere devotion, Sibyl's composure wavers, a faint trace of panic flitting across her face. She snatches her hand away abruptly.

SIBYL

...You talk too much. Clean up this mess. We've still got unfinished work.

Sibyl strides to the door.

SIBYL (CONT'D)

Jack watches her slightly stiff back. He grins. The camera freezes on Jack's upright figure as he stands up again.

EXT. MERCENARY MILITARY BASE - MAIN GATE - DAY

Maya slips back into her crisp commander's uniform. Though her complexion remains pale, her eyes hold the steely resolve of a Northern Frontier guardian once more.

Sibyl and Jack stand beside the SUV, watching her.

MAYA

I'll take Jon's ashes South myself.
Siltgard won't ever forget what you did here.

SIBYL

(a slight nod)

Goodbye, Maya. Few places remember why they still hold the line.
Siltgard does. So do you.

Maya leaves.

JACK

Why didn't you tell her? That you already set a ward around Siltgard — that the frontier's protected now?

SIBYL

A ward is just a wall — and walls can fall. What's in their blood can't. An undying war-spirit doesn't break.

JACK

Alright... Then where to next, boss? I can already feel that Chariot running hot in my chest.
